

Murray State College - Nursing Licensure
Program Contact: Robin Coppedge - rcoppedge@mscok.edu
State	State Licensure Board	Disclosure
Alabama	https://ncsbn.org/Alabama.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Alabama allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Alabama. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Alabama should contact the Alabama Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Alaska	https://ncsbn.org/Alaska.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Alaska allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Alaska. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Alaska should contact the Alaska Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Arizona	https://ncsbn.org/Arizona.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Arizona allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Arizona. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Arizona should contact the Arizona Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Arkansas	https://ncsbn.org/Arkansas.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Arkansas allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Arkansas. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Arkansas should contact the Arkansas Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

California	https://ncsbn.org/california.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). California does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of California. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in California. Students who are interested in practicing in California should contact the California Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Colorado	https://ncsbn.org/colorado.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Colorado allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Colorado. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Colorado should contact the Colorado Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Connecticut	https://ncsbn.org/connecticut.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Connecticut does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of Connecticut. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Connecticut. Students who are interested in practicing in Connecticut should contact the Connecticut Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Delaware	https://ncsbn.org/delaware.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Delaware allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Delaware. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Delaware should contact the Delaware Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Florida	https://ncsbn.org/florida.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Florida allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Florida. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Florida should contact the Florida Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

Georgia	https://ncsbn.org/georgia.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Georgia allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Georgia. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Georgia should contact the Georgia Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Hawaii	https://ncsbn.org/hawaii.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Hawaii does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of Hawaii. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Hawaii. Students who are interested in practicing in Hawaii should contact the Hawaii Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Idaho	https://ncsbn.org/idaho.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Idaho allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Idaho. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Idaho should contact the Idaho Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Illinois	https://ncsbn.org/illinois.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Illinois does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of Illinois. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Illinois. Students who are interested in practicing in Illinois should contact the Illinois Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Indiana	https://ncsbn.org/indiana.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Indiana allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Indiana. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Indiana should contact the Indiana Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

Iowa	https://ncsbn.org/iowa.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Iowa allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Iowa. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Iowa should contact the Iowa Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Kansas	https://ncsbn.org/kansas.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Kansas allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Kansas. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Kansas should contact the Kansas Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Kentucky	https://ncsbn.org/kentucky.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Kentucky allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Kentucky. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Kentucky should contact the Kentucky Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Louisiana	https://ncsbn.org/louisiana.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Louisiana allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Louisiana. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Louisiana should contact the Louisiana Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

Maine	https://ncsbn.org/maine.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Maine allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Maine. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Maine should contact the Maine Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Maryland	https://ncsbn.org/maryland.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Maryland allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Maryland. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Maryland should contact the Maryland Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Massachusetts	https://ncsbn.org/massachusetts.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Massachusetts has legislature pending that will allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Students who are interested in practicing in Massachusetts should contact the Massachusetts Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Michigan	https://ncsbn.org/michigan.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Michigan has legislature pending that will allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Students who are interested in practicing in Michigan should contact the Michigan Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Minnesota	https://ncsbn.org/minnesota.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Minnesota does not allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of Minnesota. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Minnesota. Students who are interested in practicing in Minnesota should contact the Minnesota Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

Mississippi	https://ncsbn.org/Mississippi.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Mississippi allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Mississippi. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Mississippi should contact the Mississippi Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Missouri	https://ncsbn.org/Missouri.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Missouri allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Missouri. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Missouri should contact the Missouri Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Montana	https://ncsbn.org/Montana.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Montana allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Montana. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Montana should contact the Montana Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Nebraska	https://ncsbn.org/nebraska.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Nebraska allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Nebraska. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Nebraska should contact the Nebraska Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

Nevada	https://ncsbn.org/nevada.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Nevada does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of Nevada. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Nevada. Students who are interested in practicing in Nevada should contact the Nevada Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
New Hampshire	https://ncsbn.org/New%20Hampshire.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). New Hampshire allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in New Hampshire. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in New Hampshire should contact the New Hampshire Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
New Jersey	https://ncsbn.org/New%20Jersey.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). New Jersey partially allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in New Jersey should contact the New Jersey Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
New Mexico	https://ncsbn.org/New%20Mexico.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). New Mexico allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in New Mexico. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in New Mexico should contact the New Mexico Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
New York	https://ncsbn.org/New%20York.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). New York does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of New York. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in New York. Students who are interested in practicing in New York should contact the New York Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

North Carolina	https://ncsbn.org/North%20Carolina.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). North Carolina allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in North Carolina. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in North Carolina should contact the North Carolina Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
North Dakota	https://ncsbn.org/North%20Dakota.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). North Dakota allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in North Dakota. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in North Dakota should contact the North Dakota Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Ohio	https://ncsbn.org/Ohio.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Ohio does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of Ohio. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Ohio. Students who are interested in practicing in Ohio should contact the Ohio Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Oklahoma	https://ncsbn.org/Oklahoma.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Oklahoma allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Oklahoma. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Oklahoma should contact the Oklahoma Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Oregon	https://ncsbn.org/Oregon.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Oregon does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of Oregon. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Oregon. Students who are interested in practicing in Oregon should contact the Oregon Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

Pennsylvania	https://ncsbn.org/pennsylvania.htm	"The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Pennsylvania has legislature pending that will allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Students who are interested in practicing in Pennsylvania should contact the Pennsylvania Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program."
Rhode Island	https://ncsbn.org/Rhode%20Island.htm	"The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Rhode Island has legislature pending that will allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Students who are interested in practicing in Rhode Island should contact the Rhode Island Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program."
South Carolina	https://ncsbn.org/South%20Carolina.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). South Carolina allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in South Carolina. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in South Carolina should contact the South Carolina Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
South Dakota	https://ncsbn.org/South%20Dakota.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). South Dakota allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in South Dakota. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in South Dakota should contact the South Dakota Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Tennessee	https://ncsbn.org/tennessee.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Tennessee allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Tennessee. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Tennessee should contact the Tennessee Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

Texas	https://ncsbn.org/texas.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Texas allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Texas. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Texas should contact the Texas Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Utah	https://ncsbn.org/utah.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Utah allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Utah. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Utah should contact the Utah Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Vermont	https://ncsbn.org/vermont.htm	"The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Vermont has legislature pending that will allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Students who are interested in practicing in Vermont should contact the Vermont Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program."
Virginia	https://ncsbn.org/virginia.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Virginia allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Virginia. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Virginia should contact the Virginia Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Washington	https://ncsbn.org/washington.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Washington does not allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of Washington. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Washington. Students who are interested in practicing in Washington should contact the Washington Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.

Washington D.C.	https://ncsbn.org/District%20of%20Columbia.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). District of Columbia does not allow RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated outside that state of District of Columbia. Therefore, graduates of the MSC Traditional nursing program and the Career MSC Mobility program DOES NOT MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in District of Columbia. Students who are interested in practicing in District of Columbia should contact the District of Columbia Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
West Virginia	https://ncsbn.org/West%20Virginia.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). West Virginia allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in West Virginia. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in West Virginia should contact the West Virginia Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Wisconsin	https://ncsbn.org/wisconsin.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Wisconsin allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Wisconsin. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Wisconsin should contact the Wisconsin Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.
Wyoming	https://ncsbn.org/wyoming.htm	The Associates Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs at Murray State College are accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Students who successfully complete the nursing program will be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Wyoming allows RN licensure to be obtained by examination when an applicant has graduated from an accredited/approved program. Therefore, graduates of the Traditional nursing program and the Career Mobility program MEETS educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure in Wyoming. It is required that all applicants obtain board approval prior to sitting for the NCLEX; this includes an application process. The state board will evaluate each application in its entirety to make a final decision regarding professional licensure/certification. Additional requirements such as state-specific examinations, background checks, fees, additional training, experience and coursework, etc. may apply. Students who are interested in practicing in Wyoming should contact the Wyoming Board of Nursing before enrolling in a program.